The Kailash Mansarovar Yatra is a significant and spiritual pilgrimage to two sacred sites in Tibet: Mount Kailash and Lake Mansarovar. It holds immense religious importance for Hindus, Buddhists, Jains, and Bonpo followers. Located in the remote and high-altitude regions of the Tibetan Plateau, the yatra is considered one of the most challenging and revered pilgrimages in the world.

Spiritual Significance

Pilgrims believe that visiting Mount Kailash and Lake Mansarovar is a path to spiritual growth, self-purification, and achieving liberation from the cycle of birth and death (samsara).

The Kailash Parikrama around the mountain is particularly important, as it is believed that walking around the mountain helps the individual rid themselves of accumulated karmic debt and brings them closer to moksha (freedom from the cycle of life and death).

Itinerary

Day 01: Arrival in Lucknow and drive to Nepalgunj upon arrival in lucknow, you will be greeted at the airport or train station and transferred to nepalgunj. The drive will take approximately 5 hours to cover the 180 km distance. Overnight stay in nepalgunj.

Distance: Lucknow to nepalgunj – 180 km (5 hours)

Day 02: Nepalgunj – simikot – hilsa – taklakot

Early morning, at 5:00 a.m., we will transfer you to nepalgunj airport for your flight to simikot. The flight lasts about an hour, passing over nepal's remote mountainous regions, which are often cloudy and unpredictable. It is recommended to fly early in the morning when weather conditions are calmer. Simikot, situated at 2910 m, offers an ideal stop for acclimatization. Simikot has a stol (short take-off and landing) airport, which can only accommodate small aircraft carrying up to 15 people.

We will stay overnight in simikot for acclimatization before proceeding to the next part of the journey.

Afterward, we will board a helicopter for the 25-minute flight to hilsa. The helicopter ride passes through deep gorges and narrow valleys. We use eurocopters (b3), each carrying 5 passengers with a baggage limit of 10 kg per person.

Once the group has arrived in hilsa, we will cross the border and drive to taklakot. Per chinese visa regulations, the group must enter and exit together, so we will not proceed until all members are present.

The drive from hilsa to taklakot takes around 45 minutes.

Flight: Nepalgunj to simikot (45 minutes, twin otter or dronier)

helicopter: Simikot to hilsa (25 minutes)

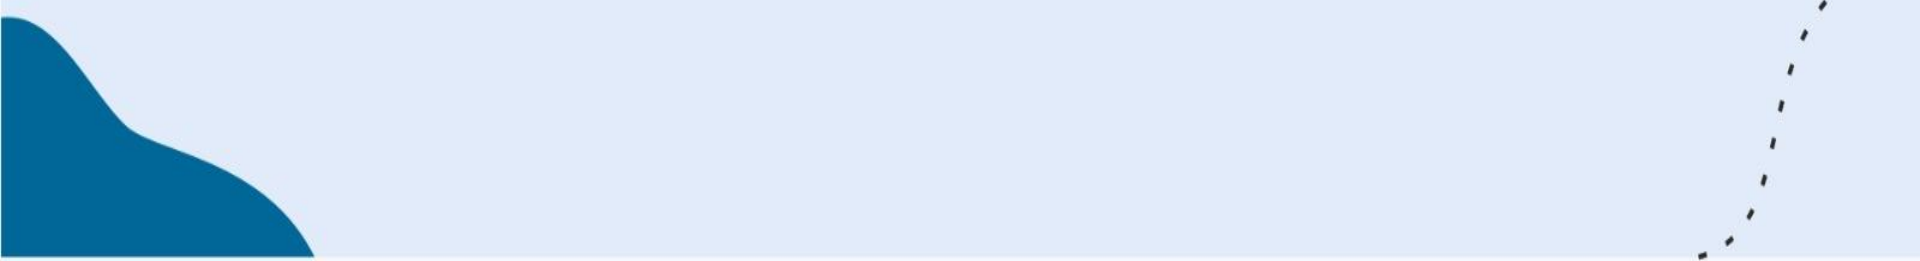

drive: Hilsa to taklakot (45 minutes, 27 km)

Day 03: Rest in taklakot for acclimatization

A rest day in taklakot is essential for acclimatization before proceeding with the circumambulation (parikrama) around mount kailash. This will help ensure your safety and comfort during the journey.

Day 04: Taklakot – lake mansarovar

A rest day in taklakot is essential for acclimatization before proceeding with the circumambulation (parikrama) around mount kailash. This will help ensure your safety and comfort during the journey.

Day 05: Chiugompa – darchen – yama dwara – trek to deraphuk

The sacred circumambulation around kailash begins today. After breakfast, we drive to yama dwara (tarboche), about 1.5 hours from lake manasarovar, where we will stop in darchen for permits.

The trek from yama dwara to deraphuk takes 4-5 hours, covering a flat, mild ascent. The trek is manageable, but the high elevation may make it necessary to take frequent breaks.

Drive: Lake manasarovar to yama dwara (45 km, 1 hour)

trek: Yama dwara to deraphuk (10 km, 5-6 hours)

elevation: Deraphuk – 4920 m (16,138 ft)

temperature: Daytime – 12 to 18°C, nighttime – 5 to -8°C, windy and partly cloudy

Day 06: Deraphuk to Zutulphuk

Today, we begin the challenging ascent to dolma la, the highest point of the trek at 5600 m. The trail is steep but flattens as you approach the summit. After reaching dolma la, we descend towards zutulphuk, passing gaurikunda, a small glacial pool associated with hindu legend. The descent can be treacherous, so caution is advised.

Trek: Deraphuk to zutulphuk (21 km, 8-9 hours)

elevation: Zutulphuk – 4820 m (15,810 ft)

temperature: Daytime – 14 to 22°C, nighttime – 3 to -5°C, windy

Day 07: End trek and drive back to taklakot

After completing the circumambulation, we trek 6 km to the end point. The remaining 105 km drive to taklakot will take about 2 hours.

Trek: Zutulphuk to trek end point (8 km, 3 hours)

drive: Trek end point to taklakot (105 km, 2 hours)

Day 08: Drive taklakot – hilsa and fly to simikot – nepalgunj

We will drive to hilsa, where immigration formalities are completed. After crossing the karnali river suspension bridge, we will fly back to simikot and then continue to nepalgunj. If weather permits, we will reach nepalgunj by 9 a.m., followed by the drive back to lucknow (5 hours).

Drive: Taklakot to hilsa (27 km, 45 minutes)

helicopter: Hilsa to simikot (25 minutes)

flight: Simikot to nepalgunj (45 minutes)
